

New Translation of the Mass – Part 16

The Offertory

THE third part of Mass, the Liturgy of the Eucharist, begins with the Offertory, during which bread and wine are brought to the altar and prepared and offered to God. The collection is also made at this time, as an offering for the local church. Nothing else need be brought forward at this point; otherwise, as they are gifts to God, they will need to be burned whole and entire. The priest may say the offertory prayers silently (for example, if the offertory chant is still being sung), or he may say them aloud. If aloud, then both times for the bread and the wine, we respond:

Blessed be God for ever. 1 Chr 16.36; Ps 41.13; Dan 2.20; Rom 9.5

In saying so, we acknowledge that we bless God because he has blessed us first, in giving us these gifts which we then offer to him. Here we forget ourselves, and acknowledge an eternal truth: that God is blessed forever. After the priest has washed his fingers (a symbolic washing reminding the priest how he must repent and confess his sins before even daring to approach and touch the sacred mysteries) he turns to us and invites us to stand and pray with him: 'Pray, brethren...' We respond:

May the Lord accept the sacrifice at your hands,
for the praise and glory of his name,
for our good
and the good of all his holy Church.

*1 Cor 11.24-25; 1 Pet 2.5
1 Chr 16.29; Joel 2.26
Mt 26.27; Mk 14.24; Lk 22
Eph 4.12; 5.25-30*

The priest says 'my sacrifice and yours', because he offers bread and wine, and the sacrifice of Christ himself on the cross; we share in this same offering and join to it our very selves. The wine poured in the chalice represents the divinity of Christ, and the single drop of water represents our frail humanity, which we seek to offer, to be lost in Christ and transformed by his divinity. Later, of course, the wine ceases to be wine and becomes the actual, true, substantial Blood of Christ, and concomitantly with his Blood, Christ's Body, Soul and Divinity as well are truly and substantially present.

Notice that the sacrifice of the Mass is offered for the praise and glory of God first (one of the four ends of Mass), and then for our good, we who are present to share in the offering and fruits of the Mass, and also for those who are not present – indeed, for all the holy Church. The 'holy Church' includes those suffering in purgatory, so the Mass is offered for their good as well.

Pilgrimage to Medjugorje, led by Fr Leon Pereira O.P., from September 4-11 (£499 shared room, half board). Please contact Kath Gambin, 234 0103. The status of Medjugorje is still undecided. Remember though that Fatima was only approved 13 years after the apparitions ceased. This therefore does not preclude our visit to the parish of Medjugorje and joining them in prayer. Come and deepen your love for Our Lord and Our Lady.

First Friday Coffee Morning: This coming Friday, at 10:30am in the Church Hall. Tea & scones or coffee & cake, a chance to chat with other weekday Mass-goers and members of the Community; and, of course, a raffle. Please pick up a flyer on the abortion ads planned for TV – it is important that we make a stand against the attempts of abortion providers to normalise the destruction of 'unwanted' unborn children. For more info contact the Leicester branch of SPUC on 0775 88 44 918.

Today's Gospel: "Watch, and be on your guard against avarice of any kind, for a man's life is not made secure by what he owns, even when he has more than he needs."
