

'ORDINARY' TIME?

YOU will notice that the Christmas Crib is still in place. It's not that we have forgotten to take it down; but we have left it there to emphasise that Christmas is not just a day or a shopping season, but a time to celebrate the birth of our Saviour, a time which does not really end until the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple, 2 February. Nevertheless, we have entered that part of the Church's year which is called 'Ordinary' Time, and today is the second Sunday in Ordinary Time. If that sounds a bit plain and dull, well, we remember that life is bound to vary, and we cannot always be on the heights. Genuine human life involves feasting and fasting; tension and relaxation; the special and the ordinary.

Still, this Sunday is special in several respects, anything but 'ordinary'. First of all, it is a World Day of Prayer for Peace – and heaven knows we need peace just now more strongly than ever. The bombardment between Gaza and Israel is pitiless in its destruction of innocent people, on both sides. Negotiation rather than violence is the only way to justice and a lasting peace. So today especially we pray intently for the change of heart that will make that peace possible.

Secondly, today is also a Day of Prayer for Education. The Catholic Church has always put a great emphasis on education, not just as a process of imparting information, but of forming values and character. Wisdom is more important than any amount of knowledge. So today too we should pray for Catholic Schools, remembering especially our primary and secondary schools in this city; but we must also pray for all the other schools and universities, for their staff and students, because the education given there is preparing those students for life, here and hereafter.

Thirdly, this Sunday is the first day of the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. Jesus prayed that all who believed in him would be united, as the Father and Son are united perfectly in understanding and love. And yet the reality is that we are tragically divided. There are profound differences in belief and practice between the various Christian bodies. And there are historic problems of fear, suspicion and hostility, for which we are all guilty. But many Christians are united with us in baptism, or at least have faith in Jesus as Saviour, even if the way they express their faith differs from ours. It is only through the Spirit of God that the prayer of Jesus for unity can be realised. So today, and for the coming week, we should pray also for the Holy Spirit to bring together in faith and love all those who worship Jesus and see in Him the only salvation for us all.

Year 1	The week ahead...	Psalter Week 2

Monday:	St Wulstan, bishop - optional
Tuesday:	Bl Cyprian Iweni Tansi, priest, religious (who was once a monk at Mount St Bernard's and died in the Royal Infirmary)
Wednesday:	St Agnes, virgin, martyr
Thursday:	St Vincent, deacon, martyr - optional
Friday:	Feria
Saturday:	St Francis de Sales, bishop, doctor
WEEKDAY MASS IN LATIN. This week, Fr Thomas will say Mass in the older form on days and times to be announced. There will be a sung Mass on the evening of 2 February, Candlemas.
Next Sunday - The Conversion of St Paul the Apostle.
Readings:
Acts 22: 3-16		Mark 16: 15-18

What have these saints in common? - St Martin de Porres, St Theresa of Lisieux, St Joseph, Our Lady, St Dominic, St Patrick, St Helena. Answer: we have statues of them here in Holy Cross. Want to know more about them? There is a set of leaflets (20p each, please) available in the Wellington Street transept giving some details of their lives and works. So you can discover who was apprenticed to a man who was both a barber and a surgeon; who, when invited to choose a toy from a box, said "I'll have the lot"; who sold his precious theology books to buy bread for the hungry; and who lived to a ripe old age, excavating the site of a pagan temple.

Please join us in the Parish Hall after the 9:30am and 11:00am Sunday Masses for tea, coffee, fruit-juice etc. The Hall is in Wellington Street. There is the opportunity for a chat with members of the Dominican Community and with parishioners. We particularly welcome newly-arrived students and other visitors to our Parish.
